

"With Scott, you're just a phone call away from a consistently great outcome. I worked with Scott as a director/producer on a half dozen projects over a couple years before we ever met face-to-face. When you get great results long distance and create not just a working relationship but a friendship that's lasted well over a decade - all I can say is that I have nothing but the highest respect for Scott, and his work. I believe you will too.
